King Road Safety Review

York Region, Ontario

iTRANS Consulting Inc. in association with Human Factors North were retained by York Region to carry out a comprehensive and independent corridor safety assessment study of King Road between Albion-Vaughan Road and Weston Road.

iTRANS conducted an office review of the data with the aim to bring a preliminary understanding of the area, the collision history and their causes, and the traffic movements at those areas. The trends and patterns of collisions and related potential causes, in conjunction with the traffic operations, road geometry and adjacent land use provided the investigators with a list of concerns to focus on during the site visit.

The observations and measurements of a comprehensive field investigation in conjunction with the findings of the office investigation were considered simultaneously when proposing appropriate countermeasures.

The Region is now in the process of implementing short-term improvements, and planning for the medium and long term solutions, integrated with other Regional projects and annual funding.
