

Whitby Freeway Link

Region of Durham, Ontario

Client:

Ontario Ministry of Transportation

Services:

- Environmental Assessment
- Highway Engineering
- Public Consultation

Staff of iTRANS Consulting undertook an Individual Environmental Assessment and Preliminary Design Study for a proposed 10-km long, 8-lane freeway connecting Highway 401 with the future Highway 407. The freeway will require a crossing of the CP Belleville Subdivision and fully-directional interchanges at Highways 407 and 401.

This study involved the identification of the need and justification for the new highway link, the development of alternatives to meet this need, and the analysis and evaluation of alternative routes.

Extensive public consultation was conducted to address concerns of the local area residents, external review agencies, municipal representatives, and members of the general public.
